

Josephine Baker

A Zoom talk given by Tamara Rabin about this amazing woman

Tuesday 28th January 2025 at 10.45 am

My talk is about the extraordinary life of Josephine Baker, who was a remarkable woman. She was an African American who rose to fame in America, despite her colour and, hating the discrimination, emigrated to France where she became one of the most famous entertainers of her time. She had a fascinating life, performing world-wide, spying for France during the war and risking her life, adopting a large number of children of different races and becoming a civil rights activist. She mixed with the most important people of her age and had a career with many ups and downs. This talk will include videos, more than 100 years old, showing Josephine dancing.

The tour is at 10.45 pm on Tuesday 28th January 2025 and will last approximately an hour.

The cost of the visit is £15.00 per person
